Power Transmission Engineering is POWERED by
The American Gear
Manufacturers Association

The ONLY magazine targeting BUYERS of Mechanical Power Transmission Components

96% of

Power Transmission Engineering readers are involved with the purchase of mechanical motion components. Here's where those purchasing influencers are most concentrated:

Belts & Belt Drives 46%
Sensors 40% Gearmotors 46%
Couplings 60% Motors 48%
Controls 31% Gears 74% Clutches 45%
Actuators 35% Linear Motion 29%
Pneumatics 34% Chain & Chain Drives 41%
Bearings 73% Seals 53%
Lubrication 59% Brakes 42%
Hydraulics 40% Gear Drives 71%

At PTE, we focus our articles on the mechanical components readers buy.

AGMA UPDATES

Operator Hobbing & Shaper Cutting | Oct. 5-6—Chicago
Learn and understand the fundamentals of gear manufacturing. Acquire knowledge and understanding of gear nomenclature, hobbing and shaping of spur and helical gears, and splines. Learn and understand hobber and shaper machine set-up, as well as gear tooth stress measurement. Understand the manufacturing process before gear tooth cutting, as well as the manufacturing process. Acquire concepts to further hobbing processes, i.e., heat treat gear tooth, finishing, and grinding and/or skiving. Gain knowledge to establish a solid foundation for all basic gear manufacturing.

Robot Simulation: Make the Most of Your Investment in Automated Manufacturing | Oct. 5—Virtual
Manufacturers in every industry are adopting robotic automation at an accelerating rate. The investment required for automation is often significant and comes with a host of options. What type of robot should be selected? What throughput can be achieved through this new system? Will the workload it is required to perform? All of these questions can be answered with Robot Simulation Software. This multi-function tool is invaluable in modeling computerized manufacturing systems, in addition to supporting new Robot Simulation Software can be utilized. The presentation will provide Case Studies that demonstrate how simulation early on the project can avoid later problems.

Power Transmission Technology Update August 23, 2022

A Look at Servo Technology for Power Transmission Systems
This article looks at the latest news on servo motors, drives and sensors. How do we differentiate between the definitions? What type of drive requires load between a stepper and a servo motor? Also, a quick update on the benefits of closed-loop motor control.

QUICK REACTING AND READILY AVAILABLE TORQUE LIMITERS
Proper torque overload protection is often omitted from machine design even concerns about size, inertia, and performance – set to maximum load limit. The TSL addresses all of this with a compact low inertia design that can handle high end changes within milliseconds or so instead. It's also readily available.

Gear Manufacturing Technology Update August 21, 2022

Verisurf Offers Universal Measurement and Inspection at IMTS
Verisurf Software, Inc. will be demonstrating a universal approach to measurement and inspection at the automotive industry. E-mail: 813.343.3434. Verisurf software provides measurement and inspection workflows with inspection plans that can be created once and used across the manufacturing enterprise in any portable or fixed CMM.

Technology Advancements in EV Inspection
EVs have unique characteristics as electric vehicles tend to higher torque and load requirements in the automotive industry. Each vehicle is a unique design – changing how gear analysis and inspection is carried out. Disrupting gear noise in gear and gearbox requires an analytical approach like a detective. The problem could stem from the design itself, manufacturing or inspection of gears, but it can be detected and corrected like variations or perhaps covering issues that directly impact noise. Every aspect of gear production needs to be examined to provide the most accurate results.

The Right Tools for Your Marketing Goals!

As technology changes and readers' information consumption and response habits evolve, so must your marketing strategy. That's why we continue to develop and improve our tools to drive both brand recognition and response. While print remains the dominant tool to reach and impact this highly technical field, we offer many digital tools designed to enhance branding, response and lead generation. Integrated marketing is the key to a successful marketing plan.
